CHAPTER 1.

1 Paul's interest in the Romans. 10 His desire to visit them. 18 God angry with etc.

11 Name of the Christian.

PAUL, a servant of Jē'sus Christ, *called to be an apostle, *separated unto the gospel of God, 2 (*Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures.)

3 Concerning his Son Jē'sus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of Dā'vid according to the flesh;

4 And *declared to be the Son of God with power, according *to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead;

5 By whom *we have received grace and apostleship, *for obedience to the faith among all nations, *for his name:

6 Among whom are ye also the called of Jē'sus Christ:

7 To all that be in Rōme, beloved of God, called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jē'sus Christ.

8 First, *I thank my God through Jē'sus Christ for you all, that *your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.

9 For God is my witness, whom I serve *with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers;

10 Making request, if by any means now at length I might have a prosperous journey *by the will of God to come unto you.

11 For I long to see you, that *I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established;

12 That is, that I may be comforted together *with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.

13 Now I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that *oftentimes I purposed to come unto you, (but *was let hitherto,) that I might have some fruit *among you also, even as among other Gën'tiles.

14 *I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Bār-bā'rī-qng; both to the wise, and to the unwise.

15 So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rōme also.

16 For *I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for *it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.

19 Because *that which may be known of God is manifest *in them; for *God hath shewed it unto them.

20 For *the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; *so that they are without excuse:

21 Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, *neither were thankful; but *became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened.

22 *Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools,

25 Who changed *the truth of God *into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature *more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them up unto *vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature:

27 And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet.

28 And even as they did not like *to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to *a reprobate mind, to do those things *which are not convenient;

29 Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers,

A MESSAGE FROM PROFESSOR NAUMANN

Credo Ergo Sum

Isaiah 7,9b: If ye will not believe surely ye shall not be established.

Im lo ta'Aminu ki lo te'Amenu

There are moments when the individual is addressed so directly and so distinctly as an individual that at least a great part of the rest of his world is shrouded and the question and answer of his own existence overwhelms even personal sentiments and emotions. Such moments of crisis or experience of self are considered by some thinkers as the area most worthwhile. Some have used these moments philosophising on their being and existence; others have found in these times the nearness to the divine; some have found in these reason for despair and darkness. The Christian has the ability to find in such moments, all too rare in our hasty century, an answer to or better, an escape from the perplexities of human existence. Cartisius in his mode of concentrated thinking rose from the scholastic treadmill of thought by discovering the "cogito ergo sum": I think, therefore I am. St. Augustine had in his "Soliloquia" asked the same questions Descartes raised. St. Augustine writes: "You, who wish to know, do you know you are? I know it. Whence are you? I know not. Do you feel yourself single or multiple? I know not. Do you feel yourself moved? I know not. Do you know that you think? I do." All such subjective and individualistic speculations fail to satisfy the mind and heart of man. In moments of crisis and in moments of the "Erleben" or experience of man in which he knows of the "I" of his being here and now, man should be able to say more and better things than the philosophers suggest.

The men to whom the "Candidate" is really dedicated and who will perhaps more than others who own this volume tend to look at it from anniversary to anniversary, these men and all pastors and workers of the Church, will, under God and by the Word of God, constantly be led to face the trying questions of an existence in this world. These men will know that their thinking is also for others entrusted to them. To these men I would propose a sentence and word that goes beyond ancient and modern existentialist meditations. This word is the ultimate solution which neither philosophy nor science will accept. I propose that we, who live in the same world though not of this same world, be relieved of problems and enigmas by the solution: "Credo Ergo Sum": I believe, therefore I am.

Looking back at the Isaiah passage at the head of the page we find that the prophet of God solves the problem of Ahaz and all who are in trouble like Ahaz (and who is not?), with the challenge simply to believe and thus to be firm and established. The Hebrew is a sentence full of significance in the play on the root of the word Amen. It is a sentence revolving around truth, not as a philosophic problem, but as Truth of God's Word. The Credo of the believers revolves about the Word of God alone and being so logocentric gives the believers the absolute of existence in time and in eternity. "I believe is not dependent on the "I" but on the Word "believe." Credo is therefore the faith in the Word as the Way, the Truth, and the Life. This faith becomes our life, and this faith makes us firm. In battle King Jehoshaphat quotes it and says to the people of God: "Believe in the Lord your God, so shall ye be established." Luther translates the parallel in Isaiah 28, 16: "Wer glaubt, der fleucht nicht." He says: "Eine gewaltige Sache ist der Glaube: Er ist das Leben in Gott." It is a tremendous thing this faith, it is life in God. Hertrich in his Isaiah commentary says: "Es gibt noch eine andere Existenz, und die heisst Glaube." There is another existence and its name is Faith. The Bohemian novelist and mystic Franz Kafka puts it a little more complicated but in a sentence worth meditating: "To believe means: liberating the indestructible in you; or better: to liberate yourself; or better: to be indestructible; or better: to be."

Credo Ergo Sum must be our comfort and strength, our answer to all threats from within and without. I believe, therefore, I testify means, I know in whom I have believed. This is the miracle we bear about in our life: I believe. Not, as it must always be said in the simplicity of Luther's catechism, not of my own reason and strength, but I, I myself, I believe, wonder of wonders that I believe! This miracle of faith worked in us and for us is, however, only possible and real because of the other great miracle: The Word was made flesh! This was the miracle that Isaiah proclaimed as the basis for the faith he asked the King to accept: Immanuel.

May we be established now and forever in the faith of Jesus Christ; thus alone we can be what we ought to be; thus alone our so individual experiences of the call to a congregation become the experience hallowed and established to the glory of God.

Whom He hath sent." JOHN 20:27.*

Concordia Seminary Chorus

The Concordia Seminary Chorus, composed of sixty voices, again upheld the reputation for fine singing which it has maintained through the years. The Chorus successfully completed two tours, appeared at individual concerts, and sang at church services, institutions, and school affairs. At the present time the Chorus is making its final plans for the forthcoming European Tour. The frequent appearances of the Seminary Chorus and the fine quality of its singing testify to the ability of its director, Prof. F. L. Precht.

EDUCATING FOR BROADER VISION

Most of us have an instinctive desire for a full life. But the fullness and joy of a life depend not on the one dimension, length, but on the product of length times breadth times depth. And it is in truly liberal education that we can add the vital factors of breadth through the emphasis on the humanities and the sciences, and of depth, through the emphasis on religion.

For a complete listing of books, new and old, to build your personal library — books that will help broaden your vision — write to the Concordia Customer Service Department in care of the address below.

What Luther Says

An Anthology by Ewald M. Plass

To know what Luther said (and he expressed himself on practically every important subject, religious and secular), is a liberal education in itself.

What Luther Says, scheduled to be published in a handsome 3-volume set in early 1959, will bring to you for the first time in English — a collection of Luther's actual statements, not what somebody said he said. It's an anthology of more than 5,100 quotations on 200 subjects, arranged and annotated.

AID ASSOCIATION FOR LUTHERANS

Over one-half million Synodical Conference Lutherans have found financial Security in their own life insurance organization. When someone talks life insurance to you, ask him if he's with the A.A.L. of Appleton, Wisconsin. That's the logical place for Synodical Conference Lutherans to buy their life insurance.

27 *For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

28 Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent *unto the Gën'tiles, and that they will hear it.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE ROMANS.

CHAPTER 1.

1 Paul's interest in the Romans. 20 His desire to visit them. 18 God angry with sin. 13 One of the Gentiles.

PAUL, a servant of Jē'sus Christ, *called to be an apostle, *separated unto the gospel of God,

2 (*Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures.)

3 Concerning his Son Jē'sus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of Dā'vid according to the flesh;

4 And *declared to be the Son of God with power, according *to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead:

5 By whom *we have received grace and apostleship, *for obedience to the faith among all nations, *for his name:

6 Among whom are ye also the called of Jē'sus Christ:

7 To all that be in Rōme, beloved of God, called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jē'sus Christ.

8 First, *I thank my God through Jē'sus Christ for you all, that *your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.

9 For God is my witness, whom I serve *with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers;

10 Making request, if by any means now at length I might have a prosperous journey *by the will of God to come unto you.

11 For I long to see you, that *I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established;

12 That is, that I may be comforted together *with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.

13 Now I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that *oftentimes I purposed to come unto you, (but *was let hitherto,) that I might have some fruit *among you also, even as among other Gën'tiles.

14 *I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Bar-bā'ri-ang; both to the wise, and to the unwise.

15 So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rōme also.

16 For *I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for *it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.

17 For *therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, *The just shall live by faith.

18 *For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, *who hold the truth in unrighteousness;

19 Because *that which may be known of God is manifest *in them; for *God hath shewed it unto them.

20 For *the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; *so that they are without excuse:

21 Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, *neither were thankful; but *became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened.

22 *Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools,

23 And changed the glory of the uncorruptible *God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things.

24 *Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, *to dishonour their own bodies *between themselves:

25 Who changed *the truth of God *into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature *more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them up unto *vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature:

27 And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet.

28 And even as they did not like *to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to *a reprobate mind, to do those things *which are not convenient;

29 Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whippers,
